ATAM Assignment Description

In this part of the project, one group will evaluate another group's architecture and vice versa using ATAM. For your convenience, we have booked rooms to make it easier to meet-up and start working. To make the process more efficient, the two groups should exchange their requirement and architecture documentation before the ATAM-sessions begin.
The two groups can also meet on other times and rooms not reserved by the course staff (but then you have to organize location and time yourselves within the groups).

The delivery of this part of the project is an ATAM report according to the template given. If two groups A and B are evaluating each other's architecture, the ATAM report of group A will contain the evaluation of group B's architecture and vice versa.
